MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 7.

TWENTY-EIGHT WEEKS IN A TRANCE -The met e.l faculty of Germany have been much interested lately in a case of long standing tranes on the part of a kirl of 13 years of age. The facts are, for once, undisputed, and no possible suspicion of trick or collusion can siise. The patient lay for 28 weeks apper ently in a state of prof und sleep at the Hos pital o: St. John's, a Kederweisel, near Bu z bach. Du ing that time she never once weke or received us u ishment of any kind. She was visited by unward of 600 meetest men from different pares of Germany during the duration of her trance, and some Freich and English physicians are also said to have seen her. Great in crest was taken by the faculty in the question whether the gill would recain sufficient strength to recover on awakening from her loog sleep, or whether she would rapidly sick. This problem is now set at rest. The grl awake some three weeks sice, and has olw quite rec vered although a ill rem ining in the hospital ander medical supervision. The case still continues to attract attention and to give rise to discussion in medical circles in Germany. However small the waste of subsience during an protound and tranquil a sleep the werk of the lungs and the beart must have demand d, it would have been thought, some sort of support. The fire of a furnace can be binked on for some time; but sooner or later, upless fact is supplied, it will burn itself out. How a human being, even in the most torpid state, e nexist for twenty-eight weeks without any bourts ment whatever is a question which may well p zz o even the most scientific of
